Baby Bees

Baby Bees have really enjoyed focusing on nursery rhymes this month. They have enjoyed taking part in all the messy activities such as painting their own sheep and using cotton wool to press onto paper plates to promote their fine and gross motor skills. The children have also enjoyed the 'Five little ducks' water activity where they used their counting skills to count the ducks and catch them in the net. Baby Bees were able to count up to different numbers depending on the child's age and stage. Baby Bees have also been to the park this month where the children were able to improve their gross motor skills and enjoyed walk in the local community.

Honey Bees

This month Honey Bees have been focusing on colours. The children have been creating rainbow artwork to develop their colour recognition skills. Honey Bees took a trip to the library to explore the community and see what colour books they could find. They loved finding different story books to read and look through the pictures identifying the colours that they can see.

Bizzy Bees

This month Bizzy Bees have been celebrating many different events. To celebrate NSPCC number day the children raised money for the charity by coming into nursery with crazy hair. The children took part in a range of different number based activities to help develop their mathematic skills. Bizzy Bees got very creative and expressive with their hairstyles and loved showing them off to their friends.

Language Champion

Over the past few weeks, I have been working closely with our SENCO to develop new ideas to help support children with their language skills. This month I have been updating the lending library in the hallway to create a space where children can choose a book to take home and enjoy. The library has been updated and children have been provided new books to read about different life transitions to help them understand the world and to develop their speech and language skills.

Evie Anderson (Language Champion)

Garden Co-ordinator

As garden co-ordinator, my role is to improve the garden to create endless learning opportunities within outdoor play. I have been improving our garden shed for the past few weeks to make it an inviting and cosy place for the children. I have added more resources for the children to explore to develop their learning when playing in the garden. I have been working closely with our Eco-schools co-ordinator to start planting some spring flowers. We have been encouraging the children to get involved with this so they can see how the flowers bloom in the coming months.

Communication and Language Building

Communication and Language Development

This Month's Speech and Language Topic:

Creating a Communication-Friendly Environment at Home for Children

Establishing a communication-friendly environment at home is essential for fostering speech and communication development in young children. This can be achieved by creating a space that encourages interaction and language use.

Start by engaging in daily conversations, narrate your activities, and ask open-ended questions to stimulate thinking and verbal responses. Create quiet, distraction-free zones where your child can focus on listening and speaking. For instance, turn off the TV or radio so there are no distractions.

Tidying away toys so that your child doesn't get easily distracted is also very helpful.

Additionally, encourage play-based learning activities that promote language skills, such as storytelling, role-play, and singing songs. By providing a supportive and stimulating environment, you can significantly enhance your child's speech and communication abilities during these critical early years.
